SECURITIES INDUSTRY BILL, 2024

The Securities Commission of The Bahamas (the Commission), in its capacity as the regulator of securities, investment funds, digital assets and the capital markets, has issued the Securities Industry Bill, 2024 (the Bill) for public consultation.

The Commission seeks to update and overhaul the legislative regime of the securities industry in The Bahamas with the goal of ensuring that the relevant laws are current, competitive, and reflect international best practice and standards generally. The draft Securities Industry Bill, 2024 therefore aims to establish a framework that:

- (i) updates the current regime for the securities industry to ensure a robust and agile regulatory regime;
- (ii) complies with International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) objectives and principles of securities regulation, the Financial Action Task Force 40 recommendations and international best practices; and
- (iii) enhances and encourages new business.

The Bill may be found on the Commission's website at:

Summary

- i. Definitions – The Bill maintains current definitions where they remain relevant to the updated regime. Definitions of new phrases and terminology introduced because of the proposed legislation are included in the draft.
- ii. Purview – The Bill addresses the entire regulatory regime (authorizations, ongoing supervision and enforcement). It maintains existing provisions that are compliant with international standards and industry best practice where appropriate, and updates compliant frameworks where new approaches will enhance the overall performance of the legislation and the Commission. For example, the enforcement framework has been updated to fortify the Commission's ability to respond more agilely and efficiently in the event of statutory breaches. The Bill provides for the imposition of sanctions for statutory breaches without a prior hearing. The law does preserve the registrant's natural justice rights as the Commission's process includes inter alia providing the registrant the right to be heard prior to the imposition of the penalty.
- v. Capital Markets and Intermediaries – The Bill updates current provisions that establish the scope of the legislation and the categories of persons subject to regulation under the Act, including establishing the Commission's ability to generally access records and request information, providing the foundation for a framework for voluntary liquidation of marketplaces, and providing for the continued jurisdiction of the Commission after a registration is surrendered. In relation to capital markets, the governance and prospectus requirement provisions have been updated to in the first instance require the separation of the Chairman and CEO and to allow for alternate forms of prospectuses in the second instance.

- vi. Derivatives – The Bill establishes a clear regulatory regime for the supervision of derivatives. This is one of the key updates of this legislation as the Act establishes a regulatory framework bespoke to trading in Derivatives.
- vii. Digital Assets – The Bill empowers the Commission to declare a digital asset or class of digital assets as securities thereby bringing digital securities within the purview of the SIA. Once a digital asset is defined/identified as a security it will be subject to and supervised under the provisions of the SIA like any other capital markets instrument.
- viii. Systemic risk management – The Bill authorizes the Commission obtain information and issue Directives for the purpose of managing systemic risks in the capital markets.
- ix. Tipping off – The Bill Includes tipping off provisions relevant to registrants.
- x. Commission Directives – The Commission’s authority to issue directives, sanctions and penalties has been clarified and updated to give the Commission the express authority to issue directives, separate and apart from its examination and investigation authority. Provisions establishing the appropriate considerations, conditions and processes for when the Commission may issue directives are also included.
- xi. Criminal Actions – The framework for seeking criminal action is expressly provided and the inter relation with the Commission’s administrative authority is provided for. The Commission is expressly authorized to refer matters to the Commissioner of Police or to the Director of Public Prosecutions.
- xii. Administrative Authority – The Bill updates and clarifies the Commission’s supervisory authority framework to enable the Commission to address non-compliance with specific statutory obligations immediately through automatic administrative action without a hearing or disciplinary action process. These supervisory actions include –
 - a. Automatic fines;
 - b. Ability to issue orders to licensees and registrants to take specific actions or to cease and desist specific activities; and
 - c. Ability to require/access any information needed by the Commission to assess the current status of the licensee or registrant as it relates to non-compliance; and
 - d. Attach specific conditions to the license or registration of the non-compliant licensee or registrant.
- xiii. Amendment of forms - The legislation gives the Commission the flexibility to update, develop and/or amend operational forms without a formal parliamentary process to amend the substantive legislation.
- xiv. Enforcement of AML/CFT breaches – The Bill updates the legislative framework to provide specific enforcement authority related to AML/CFT obligations and address deficiencies in the Commission’s current enforcement regime.
- xv. Asset freezing – Updated the legislative standards around freezing assets including scope, of authority and the duration of freeze orders, standards around court involvement and flexibility to extend, remove or refer matters for continuation in courts etc.

xvi. Publication of penalties - Provisions addressing when and what information regarding penalties is appropriate for publication are included in the Bill. Penalties will be required to be published as soon as practicable after the person on whom the penalty is imposed has been informed of that decision and the Notice should include the final decision or summary thereof, the reasons for the decision and the identity of the person against whom the decision is made.

xvii. Winding Up – The Bill updates the legislative framework to establish the Commission’s authority and locus standi in any matter relating to the dissolution of a licensee or registrant of the Commission. This includes initiating the winding up of registrants. In this regard the Bill sets the foundation for legislative provisions in subsidiary legislation which will address the framework for winding up licensees and registrants by the Commission including:

- a. Approval to windup: A requirement to seek the approval of the Commission or a requirement to provide notice, as appropriate, to the Commission of the industry participants’ intention to wind up; and
