

How Does A Phishing Scam Work?

Phishing is a type of online scam designed to trick an individual into clicking a malicious link, opening a harmful attachment, or providing personal information on a fraudulent site in order to reveal sensitive information like bank details, passwords or credit card numbers. Scammers send emails and messages that seem to come from legitimate sources like banks or subscription services, with the goal of stealing data for identity theft, financial fraud, or distributing malware.

